

HIPAA Expert Determination and De-identification-as-a-Service

Fast. Defensible. Functional.

Sharing health data requires reliable de-identification

Your healthcare organization faces growing pressure to innovate and collaborate with the wider ecosystem. Driving greater advancements in patient health has become a priority. Insight-rich data is the key.

But using sensitive health data beyond its original purpose—whether internal or external—comes with substantial privacy challenges. Data must first be properly de-identified to ensure that personal privacy is protected.

Health data that is subject to HIPAA offers profound societal benefits. But datasets can be huge, timelines are tight, and you need to preserve the most useful data. Your organization needs a trusted partner to make safe and effective use of this resource. A partner that has been proven to deliver defensible results, on the tightest of regulatory deadlines, to satisfy HIPAA Expert Determination and other standards.

That partner is Privacy Analytics.
